SEWING MACHINES

PRICE, FIFTY DOLLARS. THE IMPROVEMENTS MADE ON THE "Wilson" during the year 1871 have placed it at the head of all competition, and to-day it is without a rival. It is as durable as steel and iron can make it. Every Machine of the late Case-Hardeners sinker is warranted five years, and a warrante furnished with each Machine.

The above cut represents the late improved Machine, which rests flat with the table and runs light and rapidly, and makes the shuttle or lock stitch, uses straight needle, and the celebrated unpresent improved in shape so as to have a portion of the feed on both sides of the needle.

Remember the Fact, that high prices (on sewing machines) do not indicate superiority. The combination, the ring, and the monopoly, all agree on high prices, which they, somer or later, will be forced to reduce on account of the unprece-dented ravid and increasing sales of the NEW WILSON SEWING MACHINE.

The fellowing fine passage occurs in the sermon of the Rev. Dr. Humphreys, woman in her poor dwelling, who used to delivered in Louisville on Sunday last: delivered in Louisville on Sunday last:

with its glittering gems by night, is ever beautiful. The globe that we inhabit abounds in objects of beauty. They meet us at every step. They are sprinkled broadcast over the surface of the meet us at every step. They are sprin-kled broadcast over the surface of the earth. Beauty is found in the valley and in the mountain, in the wild forest and in the cultivated field, in the dense wood-land, and in the wide prairie; in the cas-cade of the mountain and in the spring that gushes up at its base; in the placed that gushes up at its base; in the placed his application and industry untiring. It is found in cliff and dell and gorge, in the vegetables of spring and in the fruits of autumn; in the rich plumage that glows upon and in the graceful flight of the bird of Paradise or the tiny form of the humming-bird. It is found in the hue of the lily and the blush of the rose; in the Pugnaetty of Henry Clay.

Some of the most conspicuous Whigs in congress, becoming discontented with Mr. Clay's imperious bearing and his determination to push extreme measures, agreed to meet at General Scott's rooms at the Hope Club for consultation. Mr. Clay was not invited to attend, nor was held; but late in the evening the fact came to his knowledge. Returning from a whist party at Bodisco's, he knocked at Scott's quarters, and was ushered into the room where the gentlemen were sitting. A hawk in a dovector could not have created greater consternation. He remained standing, declining a proffered chair. Glancing from one part of the room to the other, glowering at everybody present, he exclaimed in a loud voice: "Treason! treason! and in the middle of the night. Play fair, Scott, play fair." And he stalked away, paying no attention to the attempts at explanation or the denials that anything secret or unfair was intended. Subsequently he was persuaded that the only object of the meet.

An exciting struggle between a wouldbe suicide and her rescuer occurred the other day at Pout de Loup. A man and his wife having quarreled, the latter rushed out of the bouse in a state of the wildest excitement, and directed her steps toward the river Sambre. She was observed by a letter carrier named Som-veau, and he, suspecting her intention, resolved to follow her. She was some distance in advance of him, and succeeded in throwing herself into the river, appearing on the surface just as he reached the river's brink. Hastily throwing off his coat, he plunged boldly in and swam

CLARK STEAM REGISTERING GAUGE H AVING BEEN THOROUGHLY TESTED and approved by the United States Board of Supervising Inspectors for application to Steam Vessels, in conformity with the rules and regulations passed by them for the carrying out of the Steamboat Law, requiring the application of Steam Registering Gauges to all vessels propelled in whole or in part by steam, as promulgated by circular order from the Treasury Department, bearing date Nowember 6, 1871.

And being the only Registering Gauge now manufactured,

And offered to the public, filling the requirements of said raises and regulations, we, the undersigned, respectfully call your attention to the fact that we are the sole owners of the right to manufacture and vend said Gaugas, and are now ready to fill orders therefor in any required number and pressure. We warrant these Gauges to be of superior workmanship, and to have been tested by a Standard Mercury Column before leaving the factory. This Gauge is specially adapted for application to all boilers in use for hand purposes, it being the first invention in the history of the world brought out at any time for the purpose of registering steam, thus giving to all parties who are using steam for land purposes, not only protection to life, but absolute protection to properly, affording pusitive knowledge as to whether their boiler under excessive pressure has at any time been strained, which no Steam Gauge now in use except this has been able to give. Parties who are using steam can readily appreciate its importance, and we cordially invite all such to call upon our Agent, who will be happy to show them the Register and its operation. In proof of their merit, we insert the following testimony:

I think the device complete for the purpose intended to be accomplished.
